Veteran banners up; today is Armed Forces Day

Courier staff report

The 2019 Jefferson County veterans banners are now displayed along Madison's riverfront and along Broadway and Jefferson streets.

The banner project, which began last year, is a collaborative effort of the City of Madison, Visit Madison Inc., The Jefferson County Veterans Council, Jefferson County Veterans Service Office and Madison Main Street.

The banners were hung to be there for Armed Forces Day, which is today, May 18. A map with the veteran banner locations and a listing of each of the 61 banners is available at the Visitor Center. The end of the banner season is shortly after Veteran's Day Nov. 11.

The banners have been paid for by families and friends of veterans who wish to honor someone's service. Army, Air Force, Marine Corps, Navy and U.S. Coast Guard banners hang with the banners.

Veteran Banner applications are available now for the 2020 wait list. To pick up an application, go to the Visitor Center on First Street, the Jefferson County Veterans Service Office on Jefferson Street or request one from a committee member. The purchase price will remain at $150 per banner.

Waiting list applicants must turn in the entire application, including the picture of the veteran in uniform. Waiting list applicants will be notified after Nov. 11 with confirmation of banner purchase and fulfillment of payment. For more information, call (812) 265-3600.

THE DAY TIME STOOD STILL

Editor's note: It will be 10 years ago Monday, May 20, 2019. A beautiful, sunny Wednesday afternoon in 2009 turned into a desperate effort to save Jefferson County's historic courthouse as flames engulfed the structure. The editorial below was published the next day in The Madison Courier. Page A4 of today's newspaper contains some of our stories and photos as a reminder of where we are today and the strength of our community in making that happen.

JUDGE TED TODD

As we watched the fire at the Jefferson County Courthouse on Wednesday one couldn't help but reflect upon all of the stories that beautiful building holds. Entire family histories — from births to deaths ... Records of couples buying their first homes ... Lawsuits ... Divorces ... Marriages ... Tax records ...

The expressions etched on the faces of County Commissioner Julie Berry and Circuit Court Judge Ted Todd reflected the pain they were feeling as they watched flames engulf the clock tower.

So, we add a new chapter to Madison's story as we observe our Bicentennial year.

History has proven that we're a tough lot, and we've overcome many tragedies. Two hundred years from now, new generations of Madisonians will look back at this day and marvel at what a strong group of people we were.

50 days in jail for ex-nurse in elder abuse

Courier staff report

A former Madison State Hospital registered nurse will serve 50 days in jail after pleading guilty to four charges of battery in the battering and strangling of patients with physical or mental disabilities on multiple occasions during 2014 and 2015.

Sharon Back, 67, was sentenced this week in Jefferson County Circuit Court and is to begin serving her sentence Monday, May 20. Senior Judge Steve Fleece, Sr., sat the bench for this case because Circuit Court Judge DJ Mote was the county's chief deputy prosecutor when the attorney general's office requested the county file the charges. Mote explained this week that he assisted the attorney general's office with preparing documentation and consulted them as a local voice of authority until he declared his candidacy for the judge's seat. This is one of several criminal cases now pending that he is not able to hear due to conflict.

The Indiana Attorney General's office represented the state.

2 Clark County judges wounded in Indy shooting now home

Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS — Two Clark County judges who were wounded in a shooting this month in Indianapolis are both home from the hospital. Larry Wilder, who is acting as a spokesman for both judges, said Clark County Circuit Court Judge Andrew Adams returned home Thursday after Clark County Circuit Court Judge Bradley Jacobs returned home earlier this week. They had been in Indianapolis recovering from the shooting. Indianapolis prosecutors have said that more evidence is needed before they can decide whether to charge two men who were arrested in connection with the May 1 shooting. Police say an argument between the men and the judges, who were in Indianapolis for a conference, preceded the attack.

Cummins expanding operations in 3 cities

INDIANAPOLIS — Columbus-based Cummins Inc. is planning to spend at least $68 million on expanding operations at three locations. Cummins executives made the announcement Thursday at an Indianapolis Motor Speedway event celebrating the company's 100th anniversary. Cummins said it will invest $33 million on its Columbus facilities, which includes upgrading and equipping its Columbus Engine Plant to support its new electrified power business unit. The company expects to add perhaps 75 workers there by late 2021. It also plans on building a $35 million office building in Greenwood where about 500 digital and information technology staff would work.

Vonnegut museum raises $1.5M for home

INDIANAPOLIS — The Kurt Vonnegut Museum and Library in Indianapolis has reached its goal of raising $1.5 million to acquire and begin renovations on a building to serve as its permanent home. The museum announced Wednesday that it met a deadline for the fundraising effort. The museum's founder and CEO, Julia Whitehead, told The Indianapolis Star that it's "a wonderful step forward" and people "are recognizing that we have something very special here." Whitehead said in March that the museum signed a purchase agreement for a building to display a new exhibition about Vonnegut's book "Slaughterhouse-Five." It will also display other exhibitions and the organization's large collection of Vonnegut artifacts and memorabilia. The museum has been operating for eight years but is now closed to the public.

No rehearing on Lake Monroe logging

BLOOMINGTON — The Court of Appeals has declined to rehear a couple's lawsuit seeking to stop a neighbor's logging of his private property along Lake Monroe. Bloomington residents Michael and Linda Cain sued property owner Joe Huff last year regarding his use of shared easements to log portions of his more than 200-acre property along the reservoir that's the primary drinking water source for Bloomington. The appeals court recently overturned a lower court decision that halted Huff's logging of his property. The Cains' attorney then asked the appeals court to rehear the lawsuit and change its decision, but The Herald-Times reported that two of the three appellate judges denied that request Monday.

Mental eval ordered for man in 2 slayings

CROWN POINT — A man accused of fatally strangling an elderly woman and her daughter has been ordered to get another mental health evaluation. The (Northwest Indiana) Times reported Lake County Judge Samuel Cappas ordered the evaluation Thursday for James Lohnes, 47, of Crown Point. The judge scheduled an Oct. 17 pretrial hearing and a Nov. 12 trial. Lohnes earlier was deemed competent to stand trial, but defense attorneys Nicholas Barnes and Mark Chargualaf say he hasn't been able to assist with his defense since his return to the Lake County Jail from a state mental health institution. Lohnes faces murder charges in the January 2016 slayings of Velia Taneff, 86, and Lana Taneff, 63. Authorities say Lohnes had worked occasionally for the Calumet Township women as a handyman.

Driver dies in crash after fleeing police

ANDERSON — Authorities say a young man has died after crashing into a tree during a high-speed police chase.

STATE BRIEFS

Madison County authorities say the Wednesday morning crash that killed Randall Lee Moore, 20, of Westfield also left his 18-year-old passenger injured. The sheriff's department said Chesterfield police tried to stop the vehicle that was going more than 100 mph and the driver turned onto a dead-end road. Authorities say Moore then drove around the officer's car and through a ditch to get away. The Herald Bulletin reported that as the pursuit neared curving roads the officer radioed into dispatch saying he was terminating the chase, and the vehicle Moore was driving soon crashed. The passenger was hospitalized in fair condition. The pursuit and crash are under investigation.

Caesars rebrands land-based casino

ELIZABETH — Caesars Entertainment's Horseshoe Southern Indiana land-based casino that's under construction is being rebranded as Caesars Southern Indiana. Officials on Wednesday said that progress is being made on the $85 million project to create a 100,000-square-foot gambling and entertainment facility. The Harrison County casino is across the Ohio River from Louisville. The new casino will feature slot machines, table games, and poker; a bar and lounge; a nonsmoking gambling area; and will offer on-site sports betting. The land-based casino is expected to open in December, while restaurants and other amenities are expected to follow in early 2020. Horseshoe Southern Indiana's riverboat is remaining open while the new casino is built.

Man dies after jump from cliff at park

LOGANSPOUT — Authorities say a man has died after jumping off a cliff at a former quarry at a park and into water below. The state Department of Natural Resources said kayakers heard the man yell to them from a rock ledge Wednesday afternoon about 63 feet above the water at France Park in Cass County before he jumped. The kayakers tried to throw him a floatation device, but he became unresponsive. They held on to him at the surface until rescue crews arrived. The man was taken to a beach, but he was dead. Drowning is suspected, but an official cause of death was pending. His name wasn't immediately released.

Kentucky

Grimes predicts about 12.5% primary turnout

FRANKFORT — Chief election official is projecting about 12.5 percent of the state's registered voters will turn out for next week's primary election. Secretary of State Alison Lundergan Grimes said Thursday it appears turnout next Tuesday will be consistent with past primary elections, based partly on current absentee voting patterns. Grimes said it's "not OK" for such a small portion of Kentuckians to vote and said she hopes more Kentuckians go to the polls to prove her prediction wrong. Kentuckians will be selecting nominees for governor and other statewide constitutional offices next week. Grimes tracks absentee ballot totals as an indicator of Election Day turnout. Based on current statistics, Grimes projects next week's turnout will be in the range of the 2015 primary election, when nearly 12.6 percent of Kentuckians voted.

Guilty plea in jail beating of inmate

LOUISVILLE — Prosecutors have obtained a guilty plea in a case against three former corrections officers involved in an assault on a handcuffed inmate. The Courier Journal reported Devan Edwards, 22, pleaded guilty on Thursday to deprivation of rights under the color of law. Edwards testified that he didn't stop Officer David Schwartz from assaulting then-19-year-old inmate Terry Whitehead. Body camera video recorded the beating. Schwartz, 48, a former Marine, has pleaded not guilty to the same charge. Prosecutors say Edwards also filed a false report of the 2018 beating at the request of his superior, Donna Gentry. She appears in court next week on related false report charges. Edwards is set to be sentenced Aug. 12. Whitehead is suing all three in federal court, where they have denied wrongdoing.

State starts appeal of abortion law ruling

LOUISVILLE — Gov. Matt Bevin's administration has started its appeal of a federal judge's ruling that struck down a state abortion law that would halt a common second-trimester procedure to end pregnancies. The Republican governor's legal team filed a notice of appeal Wednesday with the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. U.S. District Judge Joseph H. McKinley Jr. ruled last week that the 2018 law would create a "substantial obstacle" to a woman's right to an abortion, violating constitutionally protected privacy rights. Bevin, who opposes abortion, immediately vowed to appeal. The law takes aim at an abortion procedure known as "dilation and evacuation." According to state statistics, the procedure was used in 537 of 3,312 abortions in Kentucky in 2016. A consent order suspended the law's enforcement pending the outcome of last year's trial.

Man fatally shot after hitting officer

LOUISVILLE — Police say they fatally shot a man who hit an officer with his vehicle. Louisville police spokesman Dwight Mitchell told news outlets that officers were trying to stop a vehicle Wednesday morning in connection with an investigation of several business robberies. Mitchell said the car hit an officer who was outside of his vehicle, then crashed into an officer's car. He said a Louisville officer shot the man in his vehicle. He was taken to a hospital, where he died. Mitchell said the officer hit by the vehicle is expected to be OK. The man who was shot was the only person in his vehicle. He was not identified. Mitchell said the department's public integrity unit is investigating the incident.

Trial starts for man in 4-year-old's death

ELIZABETHTOWN — A man accused of killing his 4-year-old foster son is now on trial for the boy's death. The Courier Journal reported the trial of Billy Embry-Martin, 34, started Wednesday. Hunter Payton died two years ago from head injuries. He was removed from his parents' home by the state just two months earlier over alleged drug abuse and neglect. Embry-Martin's lawyer, James Hafley, said Hunter was eating at his foster home's kitchen island when he fell and struck his head. He was hospitalized and later died. A state medical examiner ruled the injuries were inflicted and not accidental. An investigation by Radcliff police and Child Protective Services led to Embry-Martin being charged with murder last year. Hardin Circuit Judge Ken Howard said he expects the trial to last a week.

Middle school students in meth incident

WHITESBURG — Authorities say five students were involved in an incident involving methamphetamine at a middle school. Letcher County Schools Superintendent Denise Yonts told news outlets that one student was taken to the hospital Tuesday and the others were medically cleared. She did not have an updated condition on the student. Yonts said no other students were in danger and the school and buses have been cleaned. Letcher County Sheriff Mickey Stines told news outlets that it was a shock to see the drug infiltrate local schools and that the incident leaves no doubt that the county is dealing with "a major meth epidemic."

School driver offered cash to show breasts

GLASGOW — A school bus driver is accused of offering money to a female student to bare her breasts. News outlets report the Barren County Sheriff's Department said Randall J. Hastedt, 34, was arrested Tuesday and is charged with attempted use of a minor in a sexual performance. An arrest warrant said the juvenile reported the incident to a school resource officer at Barren County High School, who alerted a detective. The warrant said the driver offered the girl $20 to expose herself Monday afternoon while the bus was traveling to the juvenile's home.

Vanderburgh County jail long-term will need 750 beds

By JOHN T. MARTIN
Evansville Courier & Press

EVANSVILLE — Vanderburgh County officials said they are on board with expanding their routinely overcrowded jail, but their next steps require cost estimates.

County officials agreed there's little doubt the jail must grow. It has 512 beds, but population often tops 800 inmates.

A consultant working with the county on jail planning said Wednesday it would take a 750-bed addition to meet projected incarceration needs 20 years into the future.

Building 600 beds would likely be a 10-year solution, while a 500-bed addition could be full on its opening day, said

Mark Van Allen, vice president and director of justice architecture with Rosser International.

Those numbers take into account the need to properly classify inmates according to mental health needs, gender and their behavior while in jail, Van Allen said.

Any jail, Van Allen said, "needs to have empty beds at all times to accept new inmates in any classification or an influx of large numbers of arrestees."

Next, the county needs to know what its various options would cost, officials said Wednesday at a County Commissioners meeting. The meeting also was attended by County Council members John Montrastelle, Mike Goebel and Stephanie Terry.

"One thing we have decided is we're going to have them back on June 11 to have them discuss schematic design, and when it comes to cost, we'll also have them come to a county council meeting to discuss that because that's more in their wheelhouse," said Ben Shoulders, president of the commissioners.

The county is spending $500,000 to examine population trends and to begin drafting conceptual designs of an expanded jail.

Sheriff Dave Wedding spoke at length to county officials Wednesday about the challenges his jail staff face every day.

"The questions are why do we have so many people incarcerated," Wedding said. "The fact is, we have many people who repeatedly offend, violate their conditions of bond or parole, or they get a new charge."

Without naming names, Wedding rattled off several examples of local individuals who frequent the jail. One person has been arrested 19 times since 2009, another 35 times since 2003.

"We've got a broken city," Wedding said. "You can't blame the courts, prosecutor, law enforcement. We have a large number of offenders in our community, and we have to do something with them. And when we release them, they re-offend."

Nearly 11,000 people will be arrested in Evansville and Vanderburgh County this year if current trends continue, according to the sheriff.

State legislators in 2014 passed a law moving Level 6 felons from state prison to county jails. That has made the jail's population crunch even worse, Wedding said.

The county is reimbursed about $40 a day for those inmates, but the cost of housing them is about $55 a day, Wedding said.

Vanderburgh County regularly pays other counties to house its inmates due to the overcrowded jail here. If county officials don't expand the jail, Wedding said those costs alone will balloon to $73 million over the next 20 years.

County officials said their work with the consultants will continue.

"I believe the sheriff that we need an expanded jail, but I also believe the council when they say they need an accurate estimate so they can figure out how to pay for it," County Commissioner Jeff Hatfield said.

Vanderburgh County's jail currently does not house federal inmates. County officials said an expansion likely will be equipped to take those inmates, enabling federal government reimbursement.

Madison County delays decision on 850-acre solar farm

By KEN De La BASTIDE
(Anderson) Herald Bulletin

ALEXANDRIA — A decision on the proposed Lone Oak Solar Farm in northern Madison County has been delayed again by the Board of Zoning Appeals.

A divided crowd of several hundred people attended the Thursday night meeting at the Madison County 4-H Fairgrounds.

The project has pitted neighbor against neighbor.

Invenergy, the company proposing the 120-megawatt solar farm, and opponents of the $110 million project renewed their arguments for and against the project.

The Madison County board

continued consideration of a special use request and two variances by the company until May 28 at 8:30 a.m. at the Madison County Government Center.

The company is seeking two variances: one from a setback requirement across multiple property lines secured through leases with local property owners and to have more three years to construct the project.

Katya Samoteskul, project manager for Invenergy, outlined several points the company will include in the project area.

It included a 250-foot setback from the nearest residential property, instead of a 50-foot setback required by county ordinance; a $100,000 surety bond for repairing any damaged drainage tiles for five years; hiring an independent third-party company to monitor groundwater on the site; and testing every two years.

"We have worked hard to exceed the requirements of the ordinance in terms of setbacks and landscaping," she said.

Tami Davis, a member of the Frankton-Lapel Community School Corp. board, said the Lone Oak Solar Farm will provide $400,000 per year to the school system.

Opponents raised concerns about possible contamination from the solar panels, lower property values and the loss of prime farm land.

Samoteskul said there is a signal when a panel fails for it to be replaced and there have never been any concerns about toxic levels at existing solar farms.

Attorney Terry Hall, representing the opponents, presented additional conditions that they want the BZA to consider if a special use permit is approved.

They are asking for a 500-foot setback, testing groundwater on adjacent properties and a $1 million drainage bond.

"We admit the county passed an ordinance," Hall said. "There are very few conditions. In other states the conditions are more stringent."

When the county approved the solar farm ordinance, she said, it didn't envision a project of this size.

"This is prime farm land that is poorly drained," Hall said.

She said developers have been encouraged to locate in the Midwest because of the cheapest land and fewest conditions.

Hall admitted that the opponents didn't have experts to support their positions.

"The county has provided you with the minimum amount of information," she said. "We are asking for reasonable conditions to protect the neighbors."

Mike MaRous, an appraiser for Invenergy, said there is no evidence of a loss of property values when a solar farm project is completed.

He said a 100-megawatt facility in Minnesota was one of several sites researched along with several in Indiana.

"A Texas study found no proven economic drop in value where solar farms are located," MaRous said.

Hall countered that there is not enough information available on the impact on property values.

The proposed 850-acre site is between county roads 350 West and 600 West and 1000 North and 1300 North in Pipe Creek and Monroe townships.

State police to help find how county computers hacked

By ANDREW MACIEJEWSKI
(Huntington) Herald-Press

At least 35 desktop computers, nine servers and an undetermined number of laptops were contaminated after the combined Huntington county system was hacked on Monday, May 6.

Nearly 95 percent of the server is restored, IT interim director Joakim Abrahamsson said, excluding at least two systems, one of which needs to be fully rebuilt and is used by the city's water department.

County Commissioners and Abrahamsson said they cannot determine if any data was stolen or compromised, and they said it is unclear if sensitive or personnel information was stolen.

Abrahamsson said Indiana State Police is sending a detective in this week to conduct a criminal investigation, since he cannot find where the attack originated.

Commissioners agreed to use the electronic security firm Crypsis, which is approved by the county's cyber security insurance, to work on the system. Between the attack on Monday and the commissioner's meeting a week later, only county IT department employees have been working on the system.

Stephanie Rogers said the insurance policy covers everything after the county reaches its $10,000 deductible. Roger is also checking to see if their other policies cover business disruption to help pay for lost time.

Abrahamsson said he's spent between $10,000 and $20,000 so far, mostly on software and licensing. The cost of rebuilding the city water department's server could cost up to $30,000.

Commissioner Rob Miller said he's concerned that the insurance company will only pay for pre-approved expenses, so he asked Abrahamsson and Rogers to make sure to contact the insurance company before making further purchases.

Rogers said she's hoping they pay for Abrahamsson's initial expenses.

Crypsis' scope of work includes bringing in an attorney to review the liability of the county and finding out what — if anything — got leaked, although Abrahamsson said he believes nothing was compromised.

He said the county's system has encryption in the form of required passwords and other security features.

Abrahamsson said if they sign a contract with Crypsis, the company will send software that he will have to run on the infected computers for analysis.

Commissioner Tom Wall wanted to address rumors he's seen online, especially regarding the election.

"We know our elections were secure because those are totally separate systems," Wall said.

He also addressed rumors concerning the firing of IT director Matt Taylor at their previous board meeting on April 29.

"People are starting rumors that it's collusion from our last termination," Wall said. "I can tell you I don't know if that is the case. We're not here to determine it or point fingers, that is what the state police is here for."

Wall thanked Abrahamsson and commended the county's quick action, adding that he's seen other areas in the country crippled or harmed more severely than Huntington's situation.

Wall also thanked county and city employees for working through the situation given the circumstances. He said court still happened and law enforcement was still able to book inmates and arrest people.

Although Abrahamsson said the county didn't have a "documented" emergency plan written down, he said there was a plan and that it worked well.

We were up within 24 hours — basic functionality — I mean not fully restored ... I know that if you study on this, there are counties and companies that it takes months for them to come back," he said. "Sometimes they go bankrupt. We were up within 24 hours. I think that shows that we had our ducks in a row."

Miller said it was important for them to act quickly.

"If they say they're not going to pay it, it doesn't make any difference honestly," he said in regards to the costs already incurred before consulting the insurance company. "The outcome is going to have to be the same. We need to get it up and running and get it right."

Wall said they are learning from this attack, since it is the first cyber attack in Huntington County.

"Unfortunately, it's a cost to us taxpayers," he said. "We don't like it, but we're going to move on. We've got insurance to cover it."

"We got lucky," Miller interjected.

COURTHOUSE BURNS • 10 YEARS AGO • MAY 20, 2009

Courthouse sustains heavy fire damage

From Thursday, May 21, 2009

Less than three weeks before the city of Madison is scheduled to celebrate its 200th birthday, one of its most historic buildings was severely damaged by a fire that started Wednesday evening and burned into early today.

At 6:13 p.m., the Madison Fire Department responded to a report of flames and smoke coming from the dome and cupola of the 154-year-old Jefferson County Courthouse.

Madison Fire Chief Steve Horton estimated nearly 200 firefighters and support crews from Madison and surrounding communities responded to the fire.

By the time the majority of the flames were extinguished, the roof of the three-story Courthouse had collapsed and a scorched dome and cupola were only supported by a skeletal frame of charred timbers that had supported one of the most recognizable features of Madison's riverfront skyline.

The building's brick walls remained intact, but fire and water damage to the building was substantial, with four to six inches of water on the first floor. Firefighters continued to spray water onto the building early today.

At the height of the fire, firefighters were using eight hydrants in the downtown area.

"We will rebuild our Courthouse," Jefferson County Commission President Julie Berry said at an emergency meeting of the county commissioners, less than three hours after the fire started and while firefighters continued their work. "Our Courthouse is the most important building in our community."

"We are a resilient community, and that Courthouse will be rebuilt and it will once again become one of the most beautiful buildings in our state and in our country," Berry said.

As word of the fire spread throughout the community, hundreds of onlookers filled downtown streets to watch the firefighting efforts. Many covered their faces to avoid breathing in the thick smoke that filled the air. Water spray from the fire hoses made it feel like a light rainfall at times.

The fire came on the same day renovation crews from Brian Brothers Painting and Restoration of Piqua, Ohio had completed a $160,000 restoration that had left the old building in pristine condition with a newly painted golden dome. Teton Corp. of Madison had been hired to install a new roof on the building later this summer.

Jefferson Circuit Court Judge Ted Todd watched from across Main Street as the building he had held court in for the past 21 years went up in flames. Todd came to the Courthouse as soon as he had heard of the fire.

"It was beautiful. Just today, I was thinking that was really nice and would be done for the Bicentennial. The courthouse was looking as good as it ever looked," Todd said. "It's a sad day for Jefferson County."

According to Todd, Chief Probation Officer Julie Mitchell was in the courthouse when flames became visible from the dome and cupola. She came out of the building, not knowing the fire had started, to see fire trucks arriving on scene. According to authorities, the building was empty when the fire began to spread from the dome and cupola to the rest of the structure.

Horton initially sent firefighters into the building, but ordered all personnel out of the building once the roof started to collapse.

The courthouse is home to county records dating to as early as 1811. Many of them are stored on the first floor and in the basement, both of which sustained major water damage. Many county offices have their records electronically saved at an off-site location.

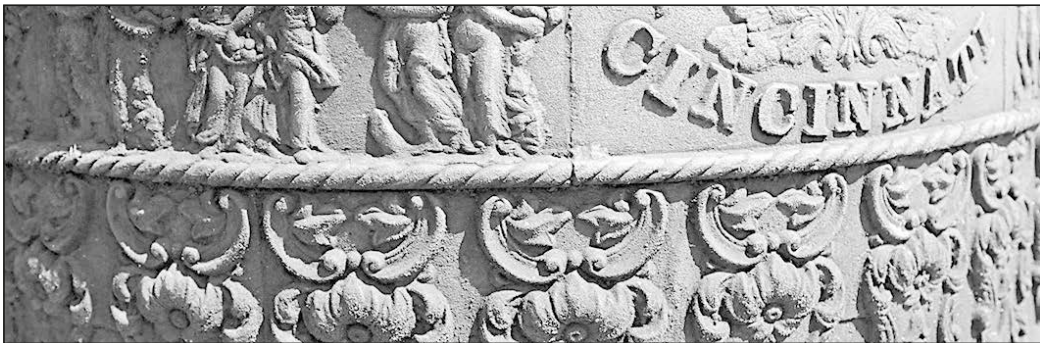

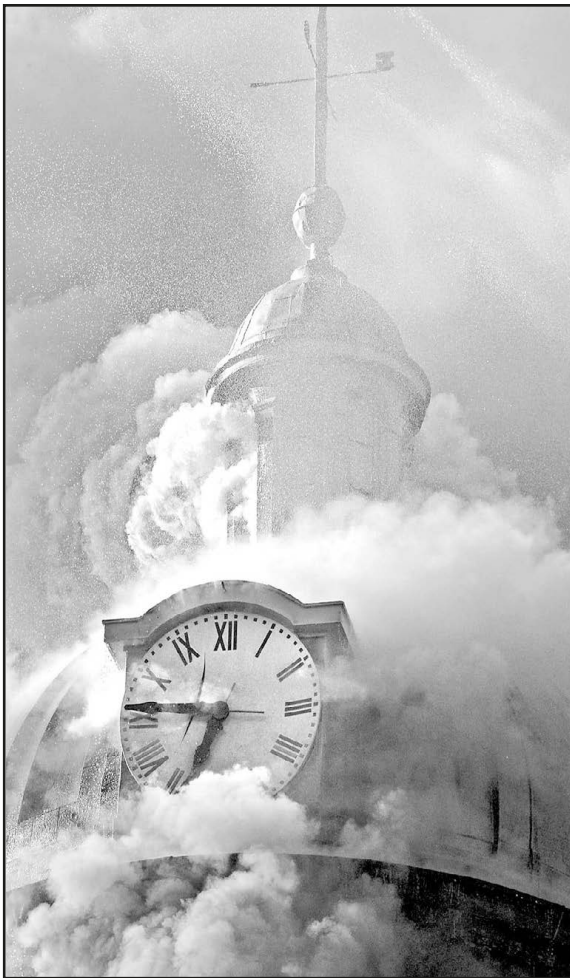

Berry expects more information on what records were lost in the fire, later in the week.

"It is the repository for our records in Jefferson County and it stood for a long time, and the loss is greater than maybe we can bear tonight," Berry said.

Shortly after 10 p.m., once the fire was under control, firefighters entered the first floor of the Courthouse. They removed some items from the first floor before evacuating the building once again.

The Madison Fire Department was assisted in fighting the fire by the Madison Township, Hanover, Scottsburg, Versailles, Geneva Township from Jennings County and Jefferson-Craig Township from Switzerland County fire departments, along with Milton, Ky., Fire & Rescue and Ripley County Emergency Management. The Madison Police Department assisted in crowd control and guarding jail inmates.

The Jefferson County Sheriff's Department was assisted by sheriff's deputies from Ripley, Scott and Switzerland counties, as well as the Indiana State Police.

PRESENT DAY

The Jefferson County Courthouse stands tall on May 16, 2019, 10 years after its near destruction.

Not the first fire at the Courthouse

From Thursday, May 21, 2009

The cupola, the roof and much of the interior of the Jefferson County Courthouse were destroyed by fire — 150 years and three months ago. "But the building remained standing with enough integrity that it was deemed salvageable," architectural historian Link Ludington of Madison wrote in a study of the building in 1998.

The county commissioners had received the keys to the new Courthouse on Sept. 6, 1855, less than three and a half years before the fire on Feb. 20, 1859. The third courthouse in Jefferson County, it had been built to replace an eight-sided courthouse near the current location that had burned down in an arson fire Sept. 12, 1853. The first courthouse, built in 1811, was made of logs and had been moved in 1823 and became a business when county commissioners decided a larger seat of government was needed.

The fire in 1859 caught people by surprise, according to a letter published in a Madison newspaper 32 years after it was written to someone in Louisville.

"About 12 o'clock the alarm of fire was raised, and it was said that the Courthouse was on fire; but no one, at the time, thought that could be possible, for that building was considered nearly fireproof," the letter reads.

The letter writer described the fire. "Whilst the cupola was in flames, the beautiful clock which was in it struck the hour of midnight; but very soon thereafter the clock and all the upper part of the house was consumed. ...It was the most substantially built and beautiful edifice in the state."

The dome atop the Jefferson County Courthouse was removed Thursday, May 28, 2009. (Staff photos by Ken Ritchie)

Dome removed from Courthouse

From Friday, May 29, 2009

After an entire day of preparation, the Jefferson County Courthouse dome and half of the cupola were picked up and safely placed on the ground in a span of less than 30 minutes on Thursday.

The removal of the unstable dome and cupola came in response to safety concerns and to help fire investigators conclude their investigation.

Almost one week and a day to the minute from the time firefighters were called to the fire that destroyed the cupola, dome and roof of the Courthouse, the remains of the dome were placed in the alley between the Courthouse and the jail.

The remainder of the cupola and bell might be removed as early as today.

Wild Ponies in town for workshop and show on Saturday

By CHARLIE ROHLFING
Wild Ponies is a band that has a special relationship with Madison. The Black Lillies also come to mind. These are high-level touring acts that return again and again for our loyal and appreciative fan base, plus the charming atmosphere of our unique and musical city.
“Heck, I’d make a special trip here just to visit Crawdaddy’s Music Store,” said Doug Williams, half of the husband and wife duo that is the Wild Ponies.
And, from Telisha Williams, “I like to run downtown and take in all the amazing architecture. We’ve ridden the Rockin’ Thunder boat, we’ve been on WORX, and we never miss a chance to go to Hinkles.”
“I think this will be our sixth or seventh visit to Madison,” Doug said. “We’ve played RiverRoots Festival twice, and we’ve played at Red Bicycle Hall I believe four times.
“We feel like we’re part of the Madison music scene now,” Telisha added. “We love the vibe here. There’s a great entrepreneurial spirit. I have a friend looking for a nice small town to move to, and I told her she has to put Madison on her list.”

Wild Ponies

Doug and Telisha call Nashville, Tennessee home, but they estimate they play somewhere between 180 to 200 shows a year, with about a third of those performances overseas. So far this year they’ve completed a big west coast swing and a tour of the United Kingdom.

“We’re very excited about this Madison trip,” Doug said, “for two reasons. Number one is that we are playing as a duo this Saturday instead of with our full band. It’s a chance to open up more musically. We don’t have to stick to the script as much. Telisha and I are pretty telepathic at this point, so it just kind of flows.”
Telisha continued, “With the duo shows the audience becomes much more a part of the performance. We feed off their energy, and we kind of create a moment together.”
“The other reason I’m excited about Saturday is the creative workshop we are putting on in the afternoon,” Doug said. “This will be more than a songwriting class, which we do a lot of. It will be for any artistic discipline, whether you’re a writer or a painter or chef or whatever.”
“We’re going to share five or six practical tips for how to unleash your creativity, how to make something original and put good stuff out into the world,” Telisha noted.

Both events are presented by the RiverRoots Music Series and are happening on Saturday, May 18 at Red Bicycle Hall. The creative workshop is free and starts at 2:30. The music show starts at 8:00 pm, and tickets are available at RedBicycleHall.com

Update
The show at the VFW tonight, Saturday, May 18, is Groove Division — not V-Groove.
Charlie Rohlfing is a stalwart of the RiverRoots Festival committee, a campfire guitar strummer, and a partner in The Red Bicycle Hall music venue. Look for his distinctive fedora bobbing above the crowd, anywhere live local music is happening. Find him out and about or at charlie@madisoncourier.com

No local damage reported despite the fierce storm; warm weekend ahead

Courier staff report
The wind twisted and bent trees and shrubs. Lightning seemed to rip open the sky. Thunder crashed. Rain poured.
But it appears there was little damage from a storm Thursday night. The weekend weather will be more about heat than storms, with highs in the upper 80s and a slight chance of showers. Weather.com, The Weather Channel, says Indiana is in a large area where thunderstorms will be possible Saturday. The Associated Press reported a line of very strong thunderstorms slammed central Indiana, cutting power to more than 49,000 utility customers and downing trees. Indianapolis Power & Light and Duke Energy reported more than 47,000 customers without power early Thursday evening in just Indianapolis and suburban Hamilton County.

The National Weather Service reported trees were blown down or uprooted on the north side of Indianapolis. The weather service issued tornado warnings for several western Indiana counties. There was no immediate word of confirmed tornadoes.

a year after the allegations were reported to a daytime supervising nurse at the facility. Several evening shift employees who worked in the unit for the more “medically fragile patients” who needed almost total assistance for activities and often suffer from some type of memory loss reported seeing several instances of Back physically and verbally abusing residents in the unit during her work hours.
Some of the instances resulted in physical harm to the residents, the probable cause affidavit said. Other instances involved the use of racial slurs and other derogatory comments made to residents.
Evening shift employees told the daytime supervisor in August 2015 that they had reported the incidents to the shift supervisor and another licensed practical nurse, court records said, but neither allegedly made an effort to stop Back’s actions.
The information gathered by the daytime supervisor was forwarded to the facility’s director of nursing, who began an internal investigation and then forwarded the information to state officials.
Facility officials terminated

Back and two other employees Sept. 9, 2015, the affidavit said.
State officials began investigating the reports in November 2015 and learned the woman allegedly used a space that was designed to be a short-term safe place as a means of punishing certain residents for no reason and falsified patient records to justify her actions.
The state’s memo regarding Back’s sentencing lists aggravating circumstances for each count of battery — one for each patient that suffered physical or mental harm because of Back’s actions.
The state said one victim was “targeted...for abuse due to his race.” The abuse of this victim included being referred to with racial slurs, verbal threats and physical harm.
Some of the physical harm, which could have resulted in death, according to the state’s memo, including choking and gagging.
The state reported that each incident of abuse was part of an “intentional, ongoing pattern of abusive behavior.”
The victims, all males in their mid-60s at the time of the abuse, could not defend themselves or report the abuse because of their mental and other health conditions.

Carroll names Moore to lead boys basketball program

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Courier Staff Writer
dcampbell@madisoncourier.com

If Paul Stone had any doubt about whether Jon Moore was the right fit for his boys basketball team, they were erased when Rick Stansbury gave him a call.

"I got this call and I was like, 'Nashville? Who is this?' I answered the phone and this guy goes 'Coach? Rick Stansbury. I heard that you're considering Jon Moore for your coaching position and I wanted to tell you that I've watched him and he's the right man for the job,'" Stone recalled on Wednesday. "That gets your attention right away?"

Even without approval from Western Kentucky University's men's head basketball coach, Stone had liked what he saw in Moore and on Wednesday the school officially introduced Moore as the school's new head boys basketball coach.

Carroll County will be the 35-year-old Moore's first head-coaching job but he comes to the school with an impressive resumé — even without Stansbury's personal reference.

"I've been an assistant at some programs for the past several years and I've had some success. It was always something that I wanted to do, being a head coach, but I didn't want to handcuff myself to saying that I was just a head coach. I wanted to get into a situation where I felt like I could work with and do good with and felt like with what we've got back (at Carroll), it's a great situation," said Moore, who was accompanied by his fiancée Kelly. "I think it's the perfect storm. I've got some talent back. I have high expectations. I'm looking forward to it. I'm ready to go."

"We're real excited about coach Moore. He brings a wealth of experience. He's been in big games and he's coached in big games and he's led a successful AAU program," Stone said. "He's not been a head coach but he's ready. His interview was outstanding. He was very prepared and he brought his practice schedule and how he plans things. He was very impressive."

Moore graduated at Franklin County High School in Frankfort in 2002 before heading to Western Kentucky University where he served on the scout team for the Hilltoppers' women's program.

After graduation from WKU, Moore began his coaching career, first as a coach at Greenup County Middle School, then later back to Franklin County as an assistant. When Franklin coach Scott Chalk got the head job at Paul Laurence Dunbar in Lexington, Moore went with him and served as associate head coach for five years. While at Dunbar, the Bulldogs won the 2016 KHSAA state championship and Moore served as an assistant on the Kentucky All-Star team.

It was while he was at Dunbar that Moore got to know Stansbury. The former Mississippi State head coach was heavily recruiting Dunbar's Taveion Hollingsworth — who would later be named Mr. Basketball — and the two coaches became close.

"Coach has done a lot for me. He's a guy that I can pick up my phone and call him anytime if I have a question about anything and he's going to answer," Moore said. "Taveion and me have a great relationship, it's almost like a little brother."

Sectional delayed by weather

COURIER STAFF REPORT

The IHSAA Boys Track & Field Sectional at Jeffersonville was suspended at about the midway point on Thursday due to severe weather that rolled through the Jeffersonville area.

Only five events were completed by the time the storm hit. Switzerland County's Zach Howlett had placed second in the discus while Southwestern's Caleb Ream was third in the 110 hurdles and Mitchell Cline was third in the 100 dash. All three qualified for the regional at Bloomington North next week. The sectional will be resumed from the point of the postponement on Friday with the final 10 events being contested, including the highly-anticipated 400-meter dash duel between Cline and Madison's Daunte O'Banion. Both runners had already posted times in the event that were among the state's best.

Full results for the meet can be seen at www.madisoncourier.com and in the Tuesday, May 21 print edition.

Southwestern's Caleb Ream (above) finished third in the 110-meter high hurdles on Thursday, one of the few events that was completed before lightning and rain halted the IHSAA Sectional meet at Jeffersonville until Friday. Switzerland County's Zach Howlett was second in the discus (bottom left) while the Rebels' Owen Bates (bottom right) cleared the bar in the high jump, an event that was not yet completed, but in which he was seeded second. Rebs close gap on Greensburg but still fall 3-2 at Sectional

sports@madisoncourier.com

Southwestern girls tennis lost just four matches all season but unfortunately for the Lady Rebels, two of those came to sectional foe Greensburg, including a 3-2 season-ending loss in the opening round of the IHSAA Sectional Wednesday in Greensburg.

Although the Rebels fell in straight sets, there were several positives in the sectional curtain call. The Pirates had beaten Southwestern 5-0 just days earlier and the Rebels' No. 1 doubles team of Ashlyn Cloud and Chloe Adcock fended off Greensburg's Kristen Fong and Sarah Schnieder 7-6 (7-3), 7-5 to keep their season alive and advance to the sectional tournament next week in Bloomington.

"Great match at Greensburg tonight," Southwestern coach Kenny Garrett said. "Unfortunately we came out on the losing end 3-2. Great crowd, great atmosphere and great tennis. I knew we had a chance if a few things went our way. They beat us 5-0 about 10 days ago but I knew they did not get our best so we worked really hard the last several days on strokes and strategy."

Southwestern's other win came at No. 3 singles where Autumn Harmon defeated Elle Acra 6-1, 6-3.

"Autumn came up big again tonight and beat Elle Acra 6-1, 6-3 after just getting beat by her last time 6-1, 6-3," Garrett said. "Autumn and I had a good discussion about confidence and I assured her if she played her game she could win the match and she did just that."

Southwestern lost the top two singles matches — freshman Julia Worcester to Reagen Rigney 6-0, 6-1 at the No. 1 and Elle Ford to Bailey Menkedick 7-5, 6-3 at the No. 2.

"Julia again played an extremely good player and she was stroke for stroke in short points but the longer a rally went, Reagen was just too overpowering," Garrett said.

The team win ended up hinging on the No. 2 singles since it was the last match on the court with the teams tied 2-2.

"(Ford) was down 5-1 in the first set but battled back to 5-4 but let that first set slip away 6-4. Elle and Bailey were just hitting the cover off the ball back and forth on long points the whole

Southwestern baseball 8-2 in ORVC for runner-up finish

sports@madisoncourier.com

Southwestern baseball closed out its Ohio River Valley Conference schedule with an 11-1 win over Switzerland County on Wednesday in Hanover.

The surging Rebels, now 16-9 and 10-2 in the ORVC with wins in five of their last six, finished as the runner-up team in the conference to Class A No. 3 Rising Sun. The Shiners defeated Jac-Cen-Del 8-2 on Wednesday to finish 15-5 overall and 11-1 in the ORVC to clinch the title. However, Rising Sun's only league loss was 5-4 to Southwestern on May 7.

The Pacers, a potential sectional opponent, drew first blood on Wednesday when leadoff batter Damion Courter was hit by a pitch from Southwestern starter Zach Cole and Damian Breeck singled to put two on.

Cole Struck out Cade Rider for the first out but Zack Weaver laced a line drive to right field to score Courter for a 1-0 lead but the Rebels defense came through on the next at-bat by turning a rally-killing double play.

A scoreless at-bat by the Rebels and another by the Pacers in the top of the second let Switzerland County hang onto that 1-0 lead until the bottom of the third when Southwestern knotted the game 1-1 when Talon Harmon singled to start the inning. Foster Mefford walked and Jackson Stockdale singled to right field to load the bases.

A fielder's choice by Nate Lichlyter plated Harmon but Mefford ended up being cut down at home for the second out and Tyler Kramer grounded out the first to end the inning and the rally.

Switzerland got a single by Rider in the third but he was later caught stealing in what ended up being the Pacers going down in order and Southwestern took the lead for good in the bottom of the third with a three-run rally.

Bailey Elliott started the rally off with a single, Cole walked and Mitchell Adcock singled to drive in Cole with what proved to be the game-winner. Harmon singled to score Trevor Smith, who was courtesy running for the catcher Adcock.

The Pacers once again went down in order in the fourth and Southwestern went back to work in the bottom of the inning.

The six-run rally got started with a walk by Kramer and an RBI double by Elliott. Cole then singled to drive in Elliott and Adcock singled to drive in Cole.

Smith, once again courtesy running for Adcock, stole second and Harmon reached on an error that left runners at the corners. Smith then scored on a wild pitch before Mefford and Stockdale drew back-to-back walks to load the bases. Brady McLain was hit by a pitch to force in Harmon and Mefford scored on a ground out by Ethan Stewart before Kramer lined into a double play to finally end the inning in his second time up in the frame.

Cole struck out the Switzerland side in the fifth and Elliott served up another one of his game-ending home runs as the first batter of the Rebels' fifth by belting a solo shot over the left field fence for his third game-ending homer in the last two weeks to invoke the mercy rule.

Cole went the distance for Southwestern, allowing one earned run on four hits with seven strikeouts and no walks on 68 pitches. Drew Chatham got the start for Switzerland and lasted three innings, allowing 10 runs — nine earned — on nine hits with a strikeout and five walks. Zack Stout came on in the bottom of the fifth and was immediate touched for the home run by Bailey.

Carroll's Searcy fans 18 Raiders in 3-0 one-hitter at Trimble Co.

COURIER STAFF REPORT
sports@madisoncourier.com

Andrea Searcy struck out 18 while twirling a one-hit shutout to lead Carroll County softball to a 3-0 win over border rival Trimble County on Wednesday in Bedford.

Searcy wasn't perfect — she walked five in her seven innings in the circle — but she was dominating and Trimble County had trouble putting the bat on the ball. The Raiders managed to put the ball in play only three times against Searcy, getting a fifth-inning double by Lauren Haney and pair of flyouts to centerfield to go with a pop-up in foul territory.

As dominating as Searcy was, her counterpart Abby Ponder was nearly up to the task. The Trimble junior struck out nine batters of her own while walking two and only gave up one earned run on three hits in seven innings.

But Carroll was able to make the most of its few opportunities to pull out the win. The Panthers scored a run in the third when Bailey Stewart reached on an error and scored on an Allie Beach RBI single.

Carroll picked up some insurance in the fourth when Searcy singled and Jordyn Shepherd drove in courtesy runner Kamryn Knight with a basehit. Shepherd then went to third on an error and scored on a passed ball for the final margin.

Trimble's only scoring threat came in the fifth when Haney broke up the no-hitter with her double. However, Searcy struck out the next two batters to end the inning.

Both teams were back in action Thursday with the Panthers shutting out Louisville Butler 1-0 at home and the Raiders blanking North Central Kentucky Conference foe Eminence 7-0 in Bedford.

Ponder tossed a four-hit shutout against the Warriors, striking out eight and walking two in a game that was stopped after six innings due to impending severe weather. The victory allowed the Raiders to win the season series over Eminence after posting a 3-1 win on March 18 but dropping a 3-2 decision on April 22.

Trimble County blew open the game in the first two innings. Emma Ginn lashed an RBI single and Shelby Wilcoxson hit a run-scoring double in the bottom of the first as the Raiders jumped out to a 2-0 lead.

In the second inning, Bailyn Clifford singled and scored on an error, Ginn hammered a two-run double and Ponder drove in a run with a single for a 6-0 lead.

Emma Ginn opened the Raider fourth inning with a triple and courtesy runner Maggie Ginn walked home on Ponder's basehit.

Ponder went 4-for-4 with a double and two RBIs while Emma Ginn was 3-for-4 with a double, a triple and three RBIs.

Trimble (14-8, 4-3 NCKC) wraps up the regular season today when the Raiders travel to Christian Academy of Louisville.

Butler fell to 17-15 with the loss while Carroll improved to 19-5.

Searcy, also 19-5, went into the Butler game with 244 strikeouts on the season against 48 walks. She's now allowed 63 runs — 56 earned — in 145 innings.

The Panthers will be the No. 2 seed into next week's 31st District Tournament. Carroll will face No. 3 seed

Switzerland Co. shuts out Southwestern 7-0

Switzerland County softball scored all of its runs in the first three innings and held Southwestern scoreless throughout for a 7-0 Ohio River Valley Conference win on a Lily Sparks five-hitter in Hanover.

The Pacers scored a run in the second and six more in the third while Southwestern didn't pick up its first hit until the bottom of the third when Kailey Burns and Abby Ralston slapped back-to-back singles only to have Lakyn Wilson ground into an inning-ending double play.

The Rebels also got a one-out double by Morgan Mahoney in the fourth and back-to-back singles by Kassey Worcester and Burns in the fifth but stranded all three. The only other base-runners Southwestern had was a walk by Ralston in the first and Abby Fulton reached on an error in the sixth.

"I was hoping for a better game tonight for our last home game," Rebels coach Duane Ralston said. "We just got out-hit and out-played. We had the bad inning that has haunted us all season."

The Pacers got the only run they would need in the second when Allie Bruce led off with a double to left field against Burns and Ariel Oeffinger singled to put runners at the corners. A fielder's choice by Madison Byrd erased Oeffinger at second while Bruce scored from third.

The Pacers six-run third inning started off with a triple by Jessie Duvall and a one-out RBI single by Sparks after Burns has struck out Maddie Duvall for the first out. Two more consecutive singles by Bruce and Oeffinger loaded the bases and Bryd's fielder's choice scored Sparks for a 3-0 lead with all runners reaching safely.

Burns ended up striking out three in the inning, but not before three straight singles by Lexi Lay, Nora Hankins and Anna Gloss scored four more runs.

Burns pitched the first two and one-third innings for Southwestern, giving up all seven earned runs on nine hits with three strikeouts. Wilson pitched the final four and two-thirds with no runs on five hits and six strikeouts. Sparks went the distance for Switzerland with no runs on five hits and a walk while striking out five.

"Lakyn did a good job coming in and slowing them down," Coach Ralston said.

Burns was 2-for-3 at the plate for the Rebels while Ralston, Mahoney and Worcester each had a single.

Sparks was 3-for-4 with a run and an RBI for the Pacers while Oeffinger was 3-for-4 with a run. Jessie Duvall was 2-for-4 with a run, Bruce was 2-for-4 with two runs and Lay was 2-for-4 with a run and an RBI. Byrd had two RBIs, Hankins had a hit an RBIs and Gloss had a hit and two RBIs.

Southwestern dropped its third game in three days 11-1 on a one-hitter at Charlestown.

Charlestown scored a run in the first, pushed five across in the third and four more in the fourth to surge ahead 10-0.

Fulton singled to lead off the fifth inning for the Rebels lone hit. Burns drew a walk and courtesy runner Bella Marcum came all the way around the bases, taking second on a steal, advancing to third on an error and scoring on a wild pitch to break up the shutout in the same inning.

Charlestown then ended the game on the mercy rule with a run in the bottom of the fifth.

Wilson started in the circle for the Rebels and took the loss after allowing six runs — five earned — on seven hits in two and two-thirds innings with two strikeouts and a walk. Abby Ralston allowed five runs — all of them unearned — on three hits in an inning and two-thirds with a pair of strikeouts in relief.

Charlestown's Savannah Gaither struck out four and walked four in six innings to pick up the win.

Southwestern ends the regular season with a 9-11 record. The Rebels will open the IHSAA Class 2A Sectional at Switzerland County on Tuesday when they face Austin in the semifinal round. Switzerland County played Madison Thursday (See story Page B4).

Cubs can't hold early lead at Jeffersonville

Madison softball led Jeffersonville 5-2 headed to the bottom of third inning before the host Red Devils came to life over the next three and pulled away for an 11-6 win on Wednesday.

Hannah Uhl drove in Kennedy Stidham with a single in the first, Bailey Dyer and Stidham hit back-to-back doubles for three runs in the second and Paige Young hit a solo home run in the third as Madison built a 5-2 lead.

But Jeffersonville roared back with four runs in the bottom of the fourth to seize the lead and got a pair of two-run home runs by Hannah Hackworth and Nangely Garcia in the fourth to double up the Cubs 10-5.

After the Devils scored a run in the fifth, Madison threatened to come from behind for the win. The Cubs loaded the bases in the seventh and got a run in on a single by Uhl to close the gap to 11-6 before Jeffersonville brought in Hackworth to get the final two outs and end the threat.

Dyer and Uhl each had two hits and drove in two runs while Stidham had a hit and an RBI for the Cubs. Peyton Holt, Emma Cammack and Abby Moore added hits for Madison.

Moore took the loss after giving up 11 runs — eight earned — on 18 hits with a strikeout and no walks.

Hackworth was 4-for-4 with three RBIs at the plate and was credited with the save in the circle. Katie Monroe got the win for the Devils after giving up six runs — three earned — on 10 hits in six and a third innings with two strikeouts. She was also 3-for-4 with a run scored at the plate.

Madison played at Switzerland County Thursday (See story Page B4) and was to visit Providence Friday for their final game of the regular season. The Cubs will host Greensburg on Monday in the opener of the Class 3A Sectional Tournament at Lady Cubs Field.

Shawe falls on 3-hitter to go 0-12 in ORVC

South Ripley's Mady Tompkins tossed a three-hit shutout to beat Shawe softball 13-0 Wednesday in Versailles.

The host Raiders scored two runs in the first and seven more in the second to blow open the game. South Ripley then added four runs in the fourth for the final margin.

Tompkins was also 4-for-4 at the plate with a run and an RBI. Halee Smith was 4-for-4 with a double, three runs scored and an RBI.

Kristen Snodgrass was 2-for-3 to lead Shawe's offense and took the loss in the circle after giving up seven earned runs and striking out five. Grace McAllister had the other hit for the Hilltoppers.

Shawe finishes its Ohio River Valley Conference schedule with an 0-12 record. The Hilltoppers (0-16) were to host Christian Academy of Indiana Friday in their regular-season finale.

They go through me for a lot of stuff and he has two younger brothers that I still stay in contact with. Rick has been great. He called me yesterday and congratulated me on getting the job. And he told me his famous quote that 'you'll be a better coach if you get some players.' He and coach Chalk and Josh (Cook) at Clark County are guys that I trust and I know that they will be there for me."

Moore has spent the past two years as an assistant coach in Clark County at George Rogers Clark High School where he got a chance to return to the classroom. But he had his eye on head-coaching jobs and when the Carroll position opened earlier this month after the resignation of Brian Crank, Moore jumped on it.

"I told them in my interview that at the time, there were 39 jobs posted on KHSAA.com and I had applied for two. One was Paducah Tilghman, which I didn't even get an interview and I wasn't expecting to get one, but you shoot for the moon and it's a great program," said Moore, whose great-grandparents were from Carroll County and he remembered visiting as a young boy. "The only other one I applied for was Carroll. I didn't apply to schools that were closer to us and that's because we've got a chance to be special here. I was all-in from the moment it came open."

What excited Moore most about Carroll County is that unlike some other jobs, this one will not be a rebuilding effort. The Panthers return three starters from a team that went 12-13 a year ago, including leading scorers Wyatt Supplee and Keishaun Mumphrey, who averaged 23.9 and 14.4 points per game, respectively.

"I know that Keishaun Mumphrey and Wyatt Supplee are good players and they put up good numbers last year. They obviously have high expectations from people in the area and even higher ones from me," Moore said. "I know that I've got a good group back. I know that we can play with anybody in this area. I've looked into where we've been and I know we haven't been in the region since '06 and I know we haven't won the All 'A' in a while, and those are two of my goals. I don't want to just get to the region, I want to win the district tournament and get in as a one seed.

Moore plans on going to work right away and wants to hold an open gym later this week. Next month he plans to take the team to WKU's team camp and he can't wait to get started.

"I told Wyatt and Mumphrey that it starts and ends with them. You can come in here and be a knucklehead and say, 'It was good. I put up some numbers but we didn't win anything,'" Moore said. "I think they get it. I think it will be a good time and I'll get to know them and they'll get to know me and I think they'll enjoy it."

second set but Bailey was just a bit sharper and pulled out a 6-3 win," Garrett said. "I will take Elle Ford in that situation anytime. She just ran out of gas."

Southwestern's second doubles team of Audrey Bare and Ally Voorhies lost to Claudia Westhafer and Aliyah Evan 6-0, 6-1.

"Two dubs just could not get going tonight footwork and movement is their issue. You can never stand and watch the ball, you must anticipate and they struggled with that tonight," Garrett said.

Southwestern closes out the season at 13-4 with a Southern Indiana Tennis Conference tournament championship.

Bailey led all hitters at 3-for-3 with a double, a home run, three runs and two RBIs. Adcock was 2-for-3 with three RBIs. Harmon was 2-for-3 with two runs and an RBI and Stockdale was 2-for-2. Cole had a hit, scored twice and had an RBI and McLain and Stewart both had RBIs.

Breck, Rider, Weaver and Patrick Stow were all 1-for-2 for the Pacers (2-19 overall, 1-11 ORVC). Weaver had the lone RBI and Courter scored the only run.

Both teams were to play interstate battles Friday — the Pacers hosting Trimble County with Southwestern hosting Carroll County.

Shawe falls at S. Ripley to go 1-11 in ORVC

South Ripley used a six-run third inning to pull away for an 8-0 win over Shawe baseball Wednesday in Versailles.

The Raiders used that big frame to jump out to a 6-0 lead and then added solo runs in the fourth and sixth innings for the final margin.

Shawe was limited to just five hits in the game, a double and we only have one senior in Ashlyn so it is a very bright future depending how much they want to get better in the offseason. We finished the season at 13-4 and as conference champion so something to build on for the future."

Greensburg advanced to the semifinals on Thursday and began play against Madison only to have the match postponed by severe weather. Shawe also began sectional play Thursday against Jennings County with that match also suspended by lightning and rain with all five events still in the first set.

Madison and Greensburg and Shawe and Jennings were scheduled to complete their semifinal matches Friday night with the winners meeting in the sectional championship on Saturday morning.

Cubs' small-ball pays off in big 11-3 win at Switzerland County

By MARK CAMPBELL
Courier Sports Editor
mcampbell@madisoncourier.com

Thursday's Madison-Switzerland County softball game started out like a donnybrook with each team scoring three runs in the first inning on seven combined hits, a couple of walks, a two-out dropped third strike and a pair of errors.

But through all that the teams were still tied 3-3.

From that point on the Cubs allowed only five more baserunners — three singles, a walk and another error — while discovering the best way to take down a solid Switzerland County team was to play small-ball on offense.

After a one-out Paige Young double in the third inning and Morgan Cahall's single staked the Cubs to a 4-3 lead, Madison used three straight bunt singles to score three runs and seize control of the game before an error on a fourth consecutive bunt made it 7-3 en route to an 11-3 win in a weather-shortened five-inning regular-season finale for the Pacers.

According to Switzerland head coach Hannah Cook, the ploy used by Madison was one the Pacers have not seen all season even though she and her coaches have warned their players that they could face it and practiced for just such an occasion.

"Nobody has small-balled us this year — not one team has tried that," Cook said. "We've told them all year to be prepared and we've practiced and practiced but it's just not the same as being in a game."

"We have that in us but the question is just whether we're going to execute," Madison coach Tony Ralston said of the attack bunting. "Today we executed the small-ball and got the bunts down and I really think that was the turning point of the game. It's been a long week and it's going to be longer tomorrow and the girls found a way to win today and I was just proud of them to squeak that out."

After Madison's fourth consecutive bunt, Cook made a trip to the circle to meet with pitcher Ariel Oeffinger and the infield for a refresher on what to expect and how to react and the team responded.

"Once they did two or three of them and I had the visit I think we were ready for it," Cook said. "We calmed down and made the plays. I think it was more the shock than something we couldn't do."

Along the way, Cook relieved Oeffinger trailing 8-3 with Switzerland ace Lily Sparks. The Cubs picked up another run on a fielder's choice and Paige Young delivered a two-run single to right field before a pop-up to shortstop finally ended the onslaught.

The Cubs tried the bunt tactic again in the top of the fourth but the Swiss defense was ready. Catcher Madesyn Byrd made a diving catch on a ball bunted by Peyton Holt, Sparks struck out Jaylyn Honaker after she spent two strikes trying to get down a bunt and third baseman Allie Bruce made a diving catch on a ball bunted by Keara Eder.

"It's encouraging to see how they gathered themselves — especially with sectionals coming up," Cook said. "We're hoping there's no small-ball then but now I think we're prepared for it ... right now were ready for it and now we know what to expect."

But by that time the damage was done and Madison was leading 11-3 with approaching storm clouds threatening to end the game early.

The Pacers got a one-out walk by Lexi Lay and a single to right field by Jessie Duvall to put runners at the corners in the fourth and a leadoff single by Bruce in the fifth but Madison pitcher Bailee Schmidt worked out both jams. The lightning and rain came with Madison coming to bat in the sixth to end the game.

In the end, Madison scored 11 runs on 11 hits and a Switzerland County error while the Pacers scored three runs on seven hits and three Madison errors. Switzerland, one of the hotter teams in the area coming in, put the ball in play — the Pacers had no strikeouts — but more times than not the Madison defense made the play.

Switzerland County's Lexi Lay (top) takes a shot to the head by Madison third baseman Jaylyn Honaker while sliding into third. Cubs' coach Tony Ralston (below left) calls Honaker aside to launch a bunt strategy that paid off in an eight-run third inning. Pacers' catcher Madesyn Byrd and pitcher Lilly Sparks (below right) celebrate after Byrd's diving catch on a bunt finally stemmed Madison's small-ball attack. The Cubs still won 11-3 in Vevay. (Staff photos by Mark Campbell)

“We hit the ball hard today but we just didn’t hit the right spots,” Cook said.

"They made some nice plays but when you've got good players like that that's what you expect," Ralston said of the Pacers. "They've got a solid program and they've got a good coach and they're going to continue to do good things. It's a solid opponent we beat tonight."

Holt and Cahall were both 2-for-3 for Madison with a run each and a triple and three RBIs by Cahall. Bailey Dyer and Young were 2-for-4 and Young scored a run and had two RBIs while Dyer scored a run and had an RBI. Honaker and Eder were both 1-for-3 with a run each and an RBI by Eder.

Jessie Duvall and Maggie Henry were both 2-for-3 for the Pacers and Duvall scored a run. Maggie Duvall, Sparks and Bruce were all 1-for-3 with Sparks adding a run and an RBI and Duvall adding a run.

Switzerland County closes out its regular season at (12-7, 8-4 ORVC). The Pacers host South Ripley at 5:30 p.m. Monday in the opening round of the IHSAA Class 2A Sectional Tournament.

"We knew they were a solid team and we had to play our game," Ralston said. "But I think sometimes our record is a little deceiving. We've got a solid team I feel like, too, when we're mentally ready to play. We weren't really ready to play to start the game and we struggled a little bit but once we settled in we made some plays down the stretch."

Madison (10-16) plays its regular season finale Friday at Providence. The Cubs then host Greensburg at 5:30 p.m. on Monday in the opening round of the Class 3A Sectional Tournament at Lady Cubs Field.

The Community Foundation of Madison and Jefferson County recently celebrated 2018's record accomplishments including 613 donations, more than $838,000 awarded in grants and scholarships and 18 recently created endowments.

Board members, staff, volunteers and the public met May 14 at the Clifty Inn to note the year's accomplishments and to recognize scholarship recipients for 2019. The annual meeting was sponsored by German American Bank.

Community Foundation President and CEO Bill Barnes told the group that the 18 recently created endowments is a record year for the Community Foundation.

Competitive grants totaled more than $223,000 and the audience was told of how those grants had a ripple effect through the community. One example was Jefferson County House of Hope, which was the recipient of a $30,000 grant in 2018 to purchase a refrigerated box truck. John Buch, treasurer of the House of Hope, said the grant enabled the group to partner to help the food insecure of Jefferson County through the Jefferson County 4-H Livestock Auction.

Finalists for the Women's Giving Circle grant were announced and included Jefferson County's 2019 Lilly Endowment Community Scholar

Student archer passes state, goes to world tournament

Canaan Community Academy student Jeremiah Lengerich will participate in the National Archery in the Schools Program's World Tournament in Nashville, Tennessee, in July after high rankings in organization's eastern competition.

Thousands of students competed with only the top 100 in each category advancing to the World Competition.

Lengerich scored 277 out of 300, which ranked him 977 out of 7837 in the Overall Boys category and ranked him 43 out of 2229 in the Elementary Division Boys category. Additionally, his score ranked him 38 out of 1359 in the Grade 5 Boys category.

The Canaan Community Academy's Cougar Archers are coached by Jay Mullins and Lara Dempler.

"Jeremiah is determined and focused," Dempler said. "He sets goals and he tries to reach them. We are very proud of him working so hard to go to world."

The world competition is expected to draw 5,000 youth to compete.

"We are very proud of each archer and especially proud of Lengerich," said Rhona Pennington, chief administrative officer at Canaan Community Academy. "The Canaan family and community will be wishing him a strong shot during the NASP Worlds."

BRIDGE
GETTING THE FACTS IN A TIMELY FASHION

Martin Rees, a British cosmologist and astrophysicist who has been the Astronomer Royal since 1995, said, “Most practicing scientists focus on ‘bite-sized’ problems that are timely and tractable. The occupational risk is then to lose sight of the big picture.”

In bridge deals, sometimes timely information about one bite-sized suit will tell declarer how to handle the big picture of the full deal.

How should declarer have played in six no-trump after West led the heart jack?

South started with 10 top tricks: three spades, three hearts, one diamond and three clubs. He saw that if the missing clubs were 3-2 or someone had a singleton jack, there wouldn’t be a problem. So, declarer immediately played a club to his ace and cashed the club queen. East’s heart discard was both a blow and a challenge. Could South collect three diamond winners?

If this suit were splitting 3-2, all would be easy. Similarly, if West had king-fourth of diamonds, one or two finesses would produce the necessary tricks. But what if East had K-10-x-x?

sequence of plays. He led a low diamond to the ace and returned the diamond four toward his jack. If East had discarded, or both opponents had followed suit, South could have claimed. Also, with this layout, how could East defend?

If he had won with his king, declarer would have had his three diamond winners. So, East played low. Now, though, South won with his jack, led a club to the king and conceded a club to West.

Declarer took three spades, three hearts, two diamonds and four clubs.

Local scholarship awards from SEI Communications

Maranda Elswick from Madison Consolidated High School is one of the winners of this year's SEI Communications' Southwestern Indiana Rural Telephone Scholarship awards. Each year, eight $500 awards are made available from the Southeastern Indiana Rural Telephone Cooperative and SEI Data, a subsidiary of SEI

Communications, to area high school seniors. The program is funded from the unclaimed capital credit fund. The cooperative has awarded a total of 155 scholarships worth $78,000. This year's scholarship award winners in addition to Elswick are: Danyka Groover from Rising Sun High School, David Carpenter from Milan

High School, Hunter Gray from Milan High School, Nathan Cantrell from South Dearborn High School, Rachel Montes from South Dearborn High School, Lauren Mull from Jennings County High School and Chloe Fields from Jennings County High School.

Verizon Wireless retailers support animal shelters, pets

Round Room LLC, the nation's largest Verizon Authorized Wireless Retailer, announced that more than 500 of its TCC and Wireless Zone stores are teaming up with local animal rescue organizations to host pet adoption events and supply drives. The company's first-ever "Rescues Rock" campaign will be at TCC and Wireless Zone stores across the country Sunday, May 19 at 1 p.m.

"Of the 6 to 8 million pets surrendered each year, approximately 4 million of them are adopted," said Scott Moorehead, CEO of Round Room, parent company of TCC. "In our household, our four-legged friends are important members of the family, and we feel honored to work alongside local animal rescues across the country to encourage more people to give these pets a forever home."

Each participating TCC and Wireless Zone store is partnering with a local animal rescue organization to promote pet adoptions on site and donate supply kits to the owners of the first dog and cat adoptions of the day. Each kit includes a rescue car magnet, drawstring bag, collar, leash, food scoop, toy, treats and a bowl.

According to the Humane Society of the United States, humane organizations spend upward of $2.5 billion each year to house and care for stray animals. While the number of pets purchased from breeders has decreased since 2016, there are still millions of animals in need of loving homes.

The Carrollton, Kentucky, store plans to participate. For a list of participating TCC stores or to find a store near you, go to www.tccrocks.com/locations

Family obituary omission

Dear Annie: I am in my 80s and recently lost my beloved sister-in-law, who was 90. She married my brother when I was just a child, and we had been close ever since. Aside from the many things I did for her, I loved her dearly as she was the last of my ties to my brothers, who have all passed on. So that leaves me as the only one left. My problem lies with her children, with whom I was very close. I told her children what a wonderful job they did taking care of their mom. I was there during her last days, but more importantly, I was there for her after my brother's death. I took her on errands and doctors' visits, etc. My niece and nephews always tell me how much they love me, and the feeling is mutual.

Annie Lane

some pretty raw feelings here, and you might be focusing on being left out of the obituary because it's an easier pain to grapple with than the enormous pain of grief. Still, it's not fair to hold a grudge against your niece and nephews. They're grieving, too. They just lost their mother.

Regarding your wish for friends to reach out to you: I encourage you to reach out to them to seek the healing you need. Remember, the fact that your name wasn't mentioned in her obituary doesn't erase the imprint you left on each other. I'm so sorry for your loss.

Dear Annie: Recently, I excused myself at a restaurant to use the restroom. When I arrived, another man was leaving the stall. I went in, only to be "greeted" by the fact that he walked away without flushing. I didn't call him out on it, but felt like it. Why are some people so disgustingly lazy? — Dismayed in North Carolina

Dear Dismayed: Well, that sounds like quite an awful greeting. What a slob! To all my readers: Please flush the toilet. It only takes a second and could save someone from having to walk into a disgusting mess.
